WOMAN FINDS HIDDEN CITY.

Returns From Successful Archaeological Work in Crete. New York, Sept. 18.-Miss H. Boyd, who was sent out by the Pennsylvania Archae-ological Society to make investigations and excavations for ancient cities in Crete, was a passenger on the steamer Pannonia, which arrived to-day from Fiume, Trieste and Palermo.

Miss Boyd said she found a hidden city in Crete and had brought with her many specimens for the society. This is her second trip for exploration.

THIS IS THE ONLY WOMAN JUROR WHO WILL JUDGE SCULPTURE AT THE FAIR

——Coppyrighted Portrait by Strauss.

Awards on Sculpture at the World's Fair.

Woman's only representative on the International Jury of Awards in the International Jury of Awards in the Sculpture group is Mrs. E. St. John Matthews of New York City. Sitting with her and passing judgment upon the merits of the many sculpture exhibits at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition are eleven men.

Mrs. Matthews's selection was based upon the almost unanimous recommendation of all the women's clubs of New York City, such organizations as the Portia Club, the Republican Club, the Minervas and the Sorosis and others uniting upon her as the one woman of the East they desired placed upon this board. It was quite a compliment, but in view of Mrs. Matthews's great work in the line of sculpture seemed deserved.

CZAR'S MEN POOR MARKSMEN.

Infantry Hardly Makes Impres sion Where Boer Riflemen Would Have Slain Thouands—Japs Modest.

CORRESPONDENCE ASSOCIATED PRESS. With the first Japanese Army, Tien-Shi-Tien, Manchuria, Aug. 12.—The lessons of the campaign are a text constantly before the eyes of the military observers with this army.

They have made no revolutionary discoveries thus far. Indeed, the chief lesson has been the overshadowing importance of that complete preparation which has made every cog of every wheel for the great machine slide quietly into its groeve at the appointed minute, and the atten-tion to details for lack of which the servants of the Czar are wasting so much brave food for powder.

The work of the Russian artillery early on July 31 commanded the highest praise from every one. It was in strong contrast to the showing made at the Yalu and was in every respect a credit to that arm of the Russian service. Their gun positions were selected by engineers who appreciated the possibilities of the country, as they had failed to do at the Yalu.

The contour of the hills, which push forward into the valley on both sides of Taowan, afforded a line of defense which, Taowan, afforded a line of defense which, speaking roughly, extended nearly in a semicircle. Most of the Russian guns looked down into the valley and also commanded the lower ranges of the hills beyond it, where the seven Japanese batteries must find cover, while they presented to the enemy only skyline targets, difficult to gauge. Consequently they gave the Japanese artillery a hard day of it and compelled the batteries with the Japanese left division, attempting to flank the Russian right, to shift their ground repeatedly to avoid the fierce and accurate fire poured upon them wherever they opened.

Epilepsy

Can be cured. To those afflicted this conveys a wonderful message. Though quite common, it is only a short time since it was considered incurable. The discovery that it was purely a nervous disorder has led to the application of the great nerversers.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, with the happy result that thousands have been completely cured, and others are being cured every day.

"In the year '22 I was stricken with epllepsy. Doctors treated me for several years, but I grew worse. I would have provide them of their just dues in reputation. Often correspondents are forbidden to make a did in the ped me, and I bought a bottle, and found it helped me, and I took three more and am cured. I had only one light spell after I commenced taking it. I do hope the time will come when everybody will know that your medicine cures these awful fits."—JOHN LEWIS, Clarion, Pa.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold under a guarantee that your druggist will refund your money if first bottle does not benefit.

The Russian generalship is more spectaced solders in spires the soldiers maid; observation. And the Japanese is more businesslike. These Generals do not play to the galleries at all. The censorship which they enforce tends to deprive them of their just dues in reputation.

Often correspondents are forbidden to telegraph the names of the leaders in daring and important fights because the names might give the enemy a clew to the identity and, therefore, to the strength and the characteristics of the organization will be held in this city by the makes might give the enemy a clew to the identity and therefore, to the strength and the characteristics of the organization will be held in this city by the makes might give the enemy a clew to the identity and therefore, to the strength and the characteristics of the organization will be held in this city by the makes might give the enemy a clew to the identity and therefore, to the strength and the characteristics of the organization will be held in this city by the makes might give the enemy a clew to the identity and the characteristics of the organization will be held in this city by the might and in the characteristics will be held in this city be the deaders in daring and important fights because the characteristics will be held in this city be the deaders in the

The infantry in front of the Japanese left fought well and maneavered skillfully. But late on the night of the battle two Russian battalions appeared north of Taowan in front of the Japanese right flank and then retired without opening fire and the purpose of their movement remains a mystery.

At Henling, where a thousand were cut to pieces and where, as at Hamatan, they had a brass band that left its instruments in the field, they gave one of the finest exhibitions of futile bravery witnessed during the war. They were marching in close column of fours under a destructive fire, and although men were cut down by squads they never broke ranks nor retreated. The uselessness of the sacrifice was as elequent as its courage, and the credit for the former belonged to the officers.

JAP GENERALS DIRECTORS The great number of casualties among the Russian officers and particularly their Generals, while no Japanese Generals had been hit, is due largely to the different theories of generalship followed in the armies. The Generals of the Japanese are directors, while the Russians cling to the old Skobeloff tradition of a commander at the head of his men leading the fight-at the head of his men leading the fighting.

From the Japanese lines we can see the white-coated Russian officers riding conspicuously before their troops while from the Russian side it must be hard to discover the Japanese officers because their uniforms are so like those of the ranks and because General Kuroki and the lesser Generals usually are somewhere behind the fighting lires managing their battles by telegraph and telephone.

ELECTRICITY IN WARRADE

ELECTRICITY IN WARFARE. Probably electricity has never played so great a part in warfare before as it does with the Japanese. Every General of brigade in the field is, like a modern ambassador, "at the end of a wire," which his divisional commander controls, and the Generals of division are in touch by telegraph or telephone with the corps commander.
The engineers run wires after the col-

The engineers run wires after the column with marvelous rapidity. Firing is heard somewhere at the front; a detachment of engineers emerges from headquarters, pack ponies are carrying bundles of light bamboo peles, while coolles and carts follow them with coils of slender copper wire. The poles, which have pointed ends, are quickly plaried, the wire spreads out as fast as men can uncoil it, and a field telephone is at work.

No evidences have been seen as the army advanced into the enemy's country that the Russians employ the telegraph extensively. There are no traces of wires or poles except the old Chinese line from Antung to Pekin.
